NUMB. 4015

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 25, 1744.

To the AUTHOR of the DAILY GAZETTEER.

SIR,

IF I see your Paper is sometimes very laudably engaged in shewing the Dangers of Europe from the French Encroachments, I ardently wish you Success; we naturally strive to contribute to what we zealously wish. No doubt, its every Body's Business to curb the French Power: But what is every Body's Business is generally pursued by no Body. There is hardly a Man so inconsiderable in Estate, but would feel the Effects of the French Universal Power, if they were once Masters here: The Poor would starve, and the Rich would become poor. The Braver and more Generous Part of the Nobility and Gentry wou'd be either destroyed, or imprison'd, or banish them; and the more Voluptuous and Effeminate, would be obliged to sollicit for Bread at the Court of Versailles, as those of Lorrain and Savoy now do.

These Things, Sir, seem at great Distance; and I hope, they are so; but they must be kept at a Distance by wise and vigorous Measures. If France is powerful enough to destroy us, doubtless she will; Wealth and Maritime Power are sufficient Provocatives:

For Wealth is Crime enough to him that's poor.
DENHAM.

If the Bait of Wealth would not make the French exert their utmost Efforts to swallow us up, the many Losses taken from them by Sea, as also the Support we give by Land, to those Princes injured by France, must have irritated them to the utmost; and of this, every sensible Man is convinced.

What is more provoking to an ambitious Prince, or the wild Creature, than the forcing from their Jaws their meditated Prey? Surely, no Man of common Sense would think we should one Month possess our Liberties or Properties, if it was in the Power of France to take them away. If they were once Masters of the Continent, they will have that Power; therefore the Preservation of our Liberties and Properties depends upon our preventing their Schemes and Influence.

They have Power to lull the Dutch; they have engaged the Germans to chuse a Pensionary Emperor; they have subjected Spain and Naples to the House of Bourbon; who have possessed those Crowns not as Rival Kings, but as Princes of the same Blood; who with Submission to the Great Monarch, and push his Power Forward, that they may oppress others under the Protection of his Tyranny.

They have, at last, gained even the Prussians, the strongest Protestant Power in Germany, to join in decreeing the Relicks of the House of Austria; the only Power capable of disputing their Universal Power. Even the King of Sardinia, they last Year had very near crushed him; nor can it be expected that Prudence and Courage can always prevail against superior Numbers.

Their Arts have kept the Muscovites quiet; the Swedes and Danes do not act against them; and if they can prevail to destroy the present League, none hereafter dare dispute their Will.

It is hoped therefore, that Princes will awake out of the Lethargy which the Arts of France have spread in their Councils. It is to be hoped, that the same Providence which has watched over Britain, will give Wisdom to the Rulers of Europe. And, I think, a Motto of their own best describes where, against the Power of the French, our last and surest Hopes lie.

Celui qui mette une Chaine au Fureur des Flots,
Sait auſſi des Mechans arreter les Complots:

He whose high Power can stormy Seas restrain,
Can render ev'ry wicked Project vain.

Extract of a private Letter from Paris, dated December the 13th, 1744.

'At Court every Thing is still talk'd of in the Te Deum Stile. The rapid Conquests in the Low Countries, the Exploits of the grand Conti, the Reduction of the Brisgaw, the regaining Bavaria, and humbling the Princes of the Empire, are the constant Topicks of our Panegyrists. But in the midst of these Triumphs, it is suspected that the King of Prussia is going to make Peace in ———. Cardinal Tencin is still our Oracle in Policy, and deserves to be so. All his Speeches are truly Oraculous; for they are Specious, and have, generally speaking, at least two Meanings. There are two Parties declared in Council, but each of them claims the Cardinal for its Head.

'The Scheme of the Tontine is now pretty well understood; it brings in a very considerable Sum of ready Money, which is to be recoined; and what was received at Six Livres, will be issued at Eight; so that if, according to the first Computation, there be Twelve Millions subscribed, about Four will be gained on the Recoinage. As to the other Projects of raising Money on Ecclesiastical Tenures, it is not so much talk'd of as before; and the common Opinion at present is, that another Method will be used, which, tho' slower, is like to prove surer; this is thought to be a Loan on a certain Island in the West Indies, the Property of which is to be yielded to us by his Catholick Majesty.

'Here is a certain young Chevalier, who is said to be incognito, tho' he appears (except at Court) in all Publick Places; but it does seem highly probable here, that he will not make any more distinguish'd Figure this Year, than he did the Last. A few Scotch and Irish are about him, and he is not much visited by Persons of Rank; so that either this Game of his is quite play'd out, or this Coldness towards him is only affected, in order to conceal some secret Intrigues. An Hungarian of Distinction has been here some Time; and 'tis reported, has lately received a considerable Sum of Money, which is intended to excite the same Spirit at Presbourgh, that lately appeared at Grodno.'

IRELAND.

Dublin, December 18. The Rev. Mr. Blashford, of St. Warburgh's, is installed Chancellor of the Cathedral of St. Patrick's.

Last Saturday the Provost, and Senior Fellows of the University of Dublin, presented the Rev. Mr. Thomas M'Donnell, one of the Junior Fellows, to the Rectory of Derryvoilan, in the Diocese of Clogher, void by the voluntary Resignation of the Rev. Dr. Delany, Dean of Downe.

Last Sunday the Thæmos, of Bourdeaux, Capt. Ross, Commander, taken by the Trial Privateer in the Bay of Biscay, arrived in Poleberg: She came from Aberdovie, laden with Wine, Flour, and other Goods; carries 20 Guns, is a fine Ship, and reckoned to be a very rich Prize.

Yesterday died, at his House at Island-bridge, Robert Leslie, of Glaslough, Esq.

On Friday Night last several Persons entered the House of Mr. M'Masters, in Cabragh-lane, with an Intent to rob it; and at the same Time some of the Gang got on the Top of the House, and stript off about 400 Weight of Lead, which they roll'd up; but being discovered by one of the Servants, who raised the Neighbourhood, they made off without their Booty.

COUNTRY NEWS.

Bristol, December 22. The Southwell Privateer, Captain Purnell, has taken two Homeward-bound French Bankers, and sent them into Kingroad. They bring Advice, that he was in Chase of a French East-India Man; and as the Southwell goes exceeding well, we hourly expect an Account of her being taken.

The King William Privateer, Capt. Cornish, has taken a French Privateer, and afterwards ransom'd her for 200 l. Sterling.

The Ship taken by the Trial Privateer, Capt. Woods, three Days after she sail'd from Kinsale, in Lat. 46 to 48, proves to be the Benjamin from Leogaune, last from the Havanna; the French Captain, and Five of his Men, were kill'd in the Action. Her Loading consists of 200 Hogsheads of Sugar, 30 Tons of Indigo, and three Barrels of Gold Dust. They sailed from the Havanna in Company with eleven Sail, Two bound for Old Spain, and Nine to France.

HOME PORTS.

Dublin, December 18. Arriv'd the Apple-Tree, Halfman, from Drontheim; the Dolphin, Derrick, from London; and the Leonard, Furlong, from Rotterdam.

Bristol, December 22. Last Post I advised you that the Southwell Privateer had sent in here two Prizes, the Particulars of which are as follow; viz. 'The St. Antonio, Jockam Clement, Master, from Quebeck for Bourdeaux, 100 Tons, laden with Salmon and Oil; and the Bein Prise, francis Quesnee, from Louisburg for Rochelle, 80 Tons, laden with dry Fish, Herrings, and Coffee, taken in Lat. 46: 20. the 13th and 14th Instant. They came out of Cape Britton the 30th of Nov. N. S. with four Men of War; three of them from 60 to 70 Guns, and a Frigate of 46 Guns, with seven East India Ships. Out of four of them they took a great Quantity of Goods, and put on board the other three; in lieu of which, they put 50 Guns in each of the other four Ships. There were about 60 Sail more in Company. The Prizes parted from the Fleet in a hard Gale of Wind. The Prisoners think they were a-head of the Fleet. Yesterday the Townsend Privateer, of this Place, sent in here the St. John, another of the French Fleet, which he took the 10th Instant, in Lat. 43: 40: in Company with another, which was ransomed for 940 l. The above Prize was laden with Fish. We have no Arrivals here this Day.'

Weymouth, December 22. On the 20th came to an Anchor in Portland Road his Majesty's Sloop the Fly, Capt. Lloyd, and still remains, with the Men of War under the Command of Admiral Medley.

Pool, December 22. Came in the ———, Ren, from Guernsey; the Desire, Wills, and the John and Anne, ———, from Newfoundland; the Margaret, Elmsley, from Petersburgh; and from St. Malo, a Ship with 250 English Prisoners; among them, the Master of the Northumberland Man of War; who all say they were treated with great Humanity. Last Wednesday Sevennight the Prospect of London was lost in a Road near St. Malo's, and 143 English drowned.

Southampton, December 22. Wind S. Came in the Two Partners, Fondan, from London for Jersey; the Betty, Oliver, and the Swallow, Smithered, both from Alderney; the John and Mary, Wit, and the Judith, Breho, from Guernsey. Also came in a small French Ship from Morlaix, with English Prisoners; among them Capt. John Morecock, late Commander of the Prime Minister Privateer.

Portsmouth, December 22. Came to Spithead, his Majesty's Ships the Gosport, Capt. Ohara, and the Shoreham, Capt. Uring, with the following Ships under their Convoy from the Downs; viz. the Imperial Anne, Harman, and the Elizabeth, Coulson, for Mahon; the Anne and Jane, Hammond, and the Blacket and Fenwick, Kitcherman, for New England; the Dorsetshire, Bowman, for Gibraltar; and the Britannia, Jackson, for Lisbon.

Dover, December 23. Wind S. S. W. Came in the Jenny, Halloway, and the Mary and Elizabeth, Bush, for Portsmouth; the Unity, Guy, for Plymouth; and the Bucket, for Lymington; all from London.

Deal, December 23. Wind S. W. Remain his Majesty's Ships, Privateers, and all the Outward-bound, as per last.

Gravesend, December 23. Passed by the St. Ann, Vesclia, from Lisbon; the Adventure, Partridge, from Boston; the Pretty Jane, Printon, and the Venus, Kirkley, from St. Kitts; the Jacob and Robert, Stonehouse, from Guernsey; the Phenix, Bray, from Gibraltar; the Mary, Cornish, from North Carolina; the Expedition, English, from Maryland; the Lucretia, Read, and the Fanny, Higgenson, from Jamaica; the May Flower, Cullmore, and the Ruth and Anne, Sowell, both from Whitstable Bay, from the Matthews; the Tidmarsh, from New England, who is stranded there; the Humphry, Ruddock, from Virginia; and one of the Jersey's Prizes, from Dartmouth.

Arrived

At New England, the Wilmington, Darling, and the Swan, Dudding, from London.

At Ramsgate, the Britannia, Lithered, from Barbados.

LONDON.

They write from Frankfort, that as the Austrians are again advanc'd into the Neighbourhood of Stadtamhoff, it is believed the Project for transferring the Imperial Dyet to Ratisbon, will not take Place.

There are private Letters from Brussels, dated the 21st Instant, N. S. which say, they had received Advice from Dunkirk, that the M. Count Saxe was arrived there, and was about to encamp 25,000 Men in the Neighbourhood of Cassoin; and had likewise sent for a Train of Artillery from Furnes.

They write from Hanau, that a certain Person of Distinction lately arrived there incognito, had several private Conferences with Prince William, after which he continued his Route for Turin; and that it was known, after his Departure, that he was a British Nobleman; which occasioned great Speculation.

Yesterday the Chickesaw Indian Chief, who came to England with General Oglethorpe, accompanied him and his Lady to their Seat of Westbrook in Surry, where they are gone for the Holydays.

The St. Mary's, Mackye, from Jamaica for London, is taken by the French, and carried into Brest.

The King Meadow, Manfield, for London, and the Hamilton, ———, for Glaſgow, both from Jamaica, are taken by the French, and carried into St. Malo's.

The Union from Barbadoes arrived at Briſtol, had ſeven Weeks Paſſage, and ſailed in Company with the Judith, Capt. Thomas Holland, the Mitford, Capt. Rowe, the Brittania, Capt. John Leatherhead, all for London; and parted with the two latter the 24th of November, the Ships in good Order, and all well on board. The Advices brought by this Veſſel import, that there is actually a great Scarcity of Proviſions in moſt of the French Iſlands, particularly at Martinico, Domingo, and St. Vincent's; this came confirmed at Barbados, by the Crew of a French Veſſel that was taken by an Engliſh Privateer, bound from Martinico to Guardaloupe, which, to the Surprize of the Engliſh Sailors, had no more Proviſions on board than half a Barrel of Herrings, and ſome Caſadæ Bread. They were alſo in Want of Powder, at Martinico, till a Dutch Ship arrived with a Supply; and as a Cartel had been ſettled between the two Governors of Barbados and Martinico, for the Exchange of Priſoners, the Veſſel ſent by the former to fetch off the Engliſh, ſaw this Dutch Ship in the Harbour: But as Commodore Knowles was cruizing among thoſe French Iſlands, with five Men of War, and ſeveral Privateers from Barbadoes, to intercept all Relief, it muſt of conſequence greatly increaſe their Miſery, and the better enable him to execute his Deſigns. The Commodore, in a Letter to ſome Gentlemen at Barbadoes, writes, that he had taken and deſtroyed ſix French Privateers. The Number fitted out are ſixteen; but ſeveral can't put to Sea for want of Proviſions. They had a farther Account at Barbados, that two of their Privateers in making a bold Attempt to cut a Sloop out of St. Vincent's Harbour, had moſt of their Men kill'd.

Yeſterday the Eighteen Malefactors, formerly mention'd, were executed at Tyburn.

A Grant has paſſed the Great Seal to George Garrett, of the Pariſh of Chriſt-Church, Spitalfields, Weaver, of his new Method of making Goods of the ſame Kind, equal in Goodneſs and Beauty to thoſe commonly called Lutherines, Sufferines, Princeſs Stuffs, or Prunelles, by a Mixture of a certain Material of the Growth of theſe Kingdoms, manufactured here with Silk inſtead of Mohair Yarn, which comes almoſt manufactured here from Turky.

Yeſterday died at his Houſe in Downing-ſtreet, Weſtminſter, Mr. Saunders, one of his Majeſty's Meſſengers.

The ſame Day a Fire broke out in the Houſe of one Mr. Newton, a Joiner in New Exchange Court in the Strand; which conſumed the upper Part, before it could be extinguiſhed.

Yeſterday the following Numbers were drawn Prizes in the State Lottery; viz. 46,393. 1000 l. 59,330, 32,661, 32,048, 17,921, 47,329, 100 l. each.

N°. 46,393. a Prize of 1000 l. drawn Yeſterday, was ſold in Shares at Hazard's State Lottery Office; where Tickets and Shares of Tickets are ſold at the loweſt Prices every Day before Nine in the Morning, and after Three in the Afternoon.
